About the artist

The work featured on the cover of this flyer is Untitled (feather) from the series Cloud by Dubbo Artist Michael Riley.

Riley's last and most significant series Cloud was an investigation of Aboriginal spirituality and attachment to country. The ten large-scale colour photographs depict objects such as a feather, a cow and a boomerang suspended against brilliant blue skies.

Cloud was the last body of work completed by Riley before his premature death from kidney disease in 2005, and as such are a personal and commanding vision of the memories and symbols of his childhood growing up in Dubbo.

The entire series of Cloud is now in the collection of Dubbo Regional Gallery thanks to the generous bequest of funds from John Armati and the Armati Family and the Friends of Western Plains Cultural Centre Inc.

The works are a testament to the creative vision of region and the dedication of the WPCC to creating a powerful and unique artistic resource for the community and for future generations.

Michael Riley, Untitled (Feather), (detail), 2000, Chromogenic pigment print, purchased with funds from the Armati Bequest and Friends of Dubbo Regional Gallery Inc, Collection Dubbo Regional Gallery.
